

C-TEC Strengthens UK Sales Team With New Hires

Published on 20 Dec 2019

A life-safety systems manufacturer, C-TEC, has restructured its UK sales team to facilitate further growth and expansion.

Simon Griffiths is C-TEC's new Northern Fire Account Manager, replacing Brian Foster, recently promoted to the newly-created role of UK Sales Manager. With over 20 years' experience in service engineer, project management and business development roles at Honeywell, Cormeton Electronics and Reflex Systems, Simon's brief is to create new business and provide technical support to C-TEC's specialist fire alarm accounts and specifiers in the North and Scotland.

Fire safety and alarm systems expert

The company has also appointed Jeff Pankhurst as its South East Fire Account Manager. Formerly a Business Development Manager at Texecom Ltd (Klaxon Signals), Jeff is a qualified fire alarm systems engineer and project manager with vast experience of managing major design, installation and commissioning projects in London including The Shard and Heron Tower.

Craig Swift, formerly a Distribution Account Manager at the company, has been appointed its new South West Fire Account Manager and Andy Turner retains his position as C-TEC's specialist Midlands and Ireland Fire Account Manager.

Hush2 fire alarm solution

Said Charlotte Manley, C-TEC's Sales Director, "With the launch of our revolutionary new CAST protocol fire alarm systems and Hush2 fire alarm solution imminent, the restructure was vital to ensure we have the right people in place to drive the next phase of C-TEC's growth. I am delighted to welcome Simon and Jeff to the team and congratulate Brian and Craig on their new positions."

C-TEC is a globally renowned UK-based manufacturer of world-class life safety systems. Currently trading in over 70 countries worldwide, the company has extended its 100,000 sq. ft. state-of-the-art headquarters to include new high-capacity manufacturing areas, product training rooms and conference center.
